IV. 阅读理解(共 15 小题, 计 20 分)

第一节: 根据短文内容, 从短文后的选项中选出能填入空白处的最佳选项。(共 5 小题, 计 5 分)

Do you think you are a happy child? What makes a boy or girl happy?
41 We know sayings are wise and true.

Do you have a hobby? Many, many people have hobbies. Albert Einstein had a hobby. He played the violin very well. This hobby made the great scientist happy and helped him work better. Quan Hongchan, a famous sports star, has a hobby too. She has a lot of little dolls and they make her very happy. As for me, collecting stamps is my hobby. 42

Hobbies bring people together and help them become friends. I have a friend Jenny and she's from the UK. She likes collecting stamps too. 43 We like to talk about stamps. Jenny says she is interested in the stories behind each stamp. She often asks me about Chinese stamps and shows some of them to me. Now we are very good friends.

Today, people send emails to each other. They don't use stamps often. 44 We both find we can learn many things from the small, colorful pieces of paper. Jenny emails and tells me she even uses the stamps to share things about China with the people around her.

45 As many people say: A life without a hobby is like food without salt.

- A. It makes me very happy.
- B. Truly, a hobby is fun and useful.
- C. But Jenny and I still like stamps.
- D. As the saying goes, a happy child always has a hobby.
- E. Because of stamps, we got to know each other on the Internet.

第二节: 阅读下面 A、B、C 三篇材料, 从所给的四个选项中选出能回答所提问题或完成所给句子的一个最佳答案。(共 10 小题, 计 15 分)

A

Most people agree that trees look nice. But not too many people know trees can also help us save money. Environmental scientists did some research and they learned that just one tree can save a city about 2,800 yuan over the tree's lifetime.

One way trees save money is by helping us save energy. Big trees stop the summer sun from shining directly to the buildings. Big trees block (遮挡) the winter wind. In this way, they help people to save the energy to make their homes and offices cool or warm. Saving energy means saving money!

There are other ways for trees to help a city save money. For example, when it rains, a city's sewers (下水道) fill up with water. Cities have to spend lots of money cleaning that water. But trees' leaves and roots take in rainwater before it gets to the dirty sewers. With the help of trees, there is less water to clean and money is saved.

46. What does the passage mainly talk about?

- A. How to protect trees.
- B. How to study trees.
- C. How trees help cities save money.
- D. How trees make cities look nice.

47. The underlined word "they" refers to "_____".

- A. city cleaners
- B. environmental scientists
- C. big trees
- D. tall buildings

48. To better support the topic sentence of Paragraph 3, the writer _____.

- A. gives an example B. asks a question C. uses pictures D. lists numbers

B

Dear Xiaoyun,

I was so happy to read your letter. I like having a pen pal in China because I can learn so many new things. Thank you for sending me your family photo of four. Can you tell me more about your life? Zhao Xiang is a seventh grader who loves music. He has a good voice and is in a singing club. Recently, he had a problem. His school would hold a singing competition. His class teacher, Mr. Yao, talked to the class and they decided to sing a chorus masterpiece at the competition.

For the performance, Mr. Yao even invited his wife, a local musician, to guide the practice. Zhao Xiang thought it was a good chance for him to show his talent.

At the first practice, things did not go as what Zhao Xiang had expected – he was too good to join the others. The musician was not satisfied and Zhao Xiang felt bad. Mr. Yao saw everything and he came up to Zhao Xiang and comforted him, “Please remember, Zhao Xiang, singing a chorus is NOT one person’s job. Everyone has to work together to achieve a good result.” Zhao Xiang realized that his voice would not help if he failed to work well with others.

Zhao Xiang changed his way of singing – he did not sing so loud as he used to, and his voice became more mixed with the others’. He even helped the musician to train those who had trouble in singing by showing them how to breathe (换气), how to control voice and sing gracefully. The practice was hard, but everyone was happy with him – the class teacher, the musician, his classmates, and even his parents – about his development!

At last, the Big Day came. The whole class was on the stage. They tried their best and they made it! When the headmaster read out first prize, everyone jumped up and shouted with joy. They threw Zhao Xiang up into the air. Zhao Xiang felt great because he knew he was not just singing for himself but for the class as a team. He learned that teamwork is needed everywhere and that teamwork is about trust and helping one another. He was so proud because he had done something important for his class!

* A chorus masterpiece is a song that is well-known and is sung together by a group of people.

71. What did the class decide to do at the competition?

They decided to _____ at the competition.

72. How did Zhao Xiang feel at the first practice?
